WHO WE ARE

- The University of Melbourne Students In Free Enterprise is the largest SIFE team in Australia, with an active membership of over 70 students and a portfolio of 4 ongoing projects.
- We are part of a global network of over 42,000 university students in 40 countries working with leaders in business and higher education.

Leading change for a sustainable world

WHAT WE DO

- We are constantly striving to set new benchmarks with revolutionary projects, an entrepreneurial approach and an energetic and dedicated team.
- Our projects target a broad range of issues such as environmental sustainability, employment for the socially disadvantaged, and, through our first international project, the development of a sustainable livelihood for small enterprises in the developing world.

Nexus Abroad is an international development project that assists community organisations in developing countries to become financially independent and achieve their own mission of empowering their local communities.

Switched-on Enterprises aims to drive societal change through assisting social enterprises to run a sustainable business model, allowing them to increase their capacity to better assist disadvantaged members of the community.

OUR VISION

Social inequality and climate change are the unpleasant realities of our world. We're engaging with these challenges to cultivate a more optimistic vision for the future.

We're practical visionaries. We've partnered with academic and business leaders and we're inspiring them to action. The work we do is nothing short of extraordinary. We're changing the world, one student-led initiative at a time.

Think.Act.Green aims to increase environmental awareness amongst Victorian secondary school students and empower them through the development of professional skills such as financial literacy and issues research and analysis.
